

... TO COMPLETE

Cachaça / Saideira*

Cachaça (pronounced ka-sha-sa, also called pinga, água que passarinho não bebe, aguardente, branquinha, danada, aquela que matou o guarda, etc), is the most popular distilled alcoholic beverage in Brasil, made from sugarcane juice. Cachaça has 2 varieties: unaged (white) and aged (gold). White cachaça is often used to prepare the classic Caipirinha and many other Cachaça based cocktails. Dark Cachaça, usually seen as the 'premium' variety, is aged in wooden barrels and is intended to be consumed pure and tasted slowly.

WHITE

£2.60

Brasília – 40% vol.
Sagatiba – 49%vol.
Tucano – 40%vol.
Velho Barreiro – 40%vol.
51 – 40%vol.

GOLD

£3.00

Beija-Flor – Produced using hand selected sugarcane and reserved for 2 years in Oak barrels – 30%vol.
Gabriela – An organic product stored in tonels of Imbuarana wood – 38%vol.
Germana – Distilled and fermented sugarcane broth, stored in Oak barrels – 40%vol.
Leblon – Juicy stalks of fresh cane distilled and aged for 1 month in vintage Cognac casks in Cognac, France – 40%vol.
Sagatiba Velha – Aged in American Oak ex-bourbon barrels – 38%vol.

PREMIUM

£8.00

Ypioca 150 – aged for 6 years (3 years in Balm wooden barrels, followed by 3 years in Carvalho wooden barrels, acquiring an unmistakable taste, bouquet and an exclusive golden colour. 39%vol.

SAGATIBA PRECIOSA

£24.00

Distilled in 1982, Sagatiba Preciosa was matured in the 19th century European Oak barrels until its discovery in 2004 when it was filtered and purified according to the highest quality standards to ensure its aroma and flavour would be preserved.

DIGESTIVE

CATUABA

£3.00

A light liqueur with infusions from a selection of native Brazilian trees. Sweet tasting and believed to be an aphrodisiac!

CHA-MATE (pronounced "cha mah-tei)

£1.80

A popular Brazilian Tea, with leaves from only rainforest herbs.

HOT DRINKS

Expresso	£1.80
Double expresso	£2.30
Capuccino	£2.30
Latte	£2.30
Americano/Black coffee	£1.80
Hot chocolate	£2.30
English tea	£1.80
Alcoholic coffee (coffee + liqueur of your choice topped with cream)	£4.80